

Darrell K. Terry, Sr., MHA, MPH, FACHE, FHELA, President and Chief Executive Officer
Newark Beth Israel Medical Center and Children's Hospital of New Jersey

Darrell K. Terry, Sr., MHA, MPH, FACHE, FHELA is a 25-year employee of RWJBarnabas Health and has more than 35 years of experience in health care administration at three major New Jersey Health care organizations. He began his career at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center and Children's Hospital of New Jersey in Operations Management in 1997. He was named Senior Vice President of Operations in 2006, became Chief Operating Officer in 2011 and in May 2016 he assumed his current position as President and Chief Executive Officer.

In this role, Mr. Terry is responsible for the strategic operations of this 665-bed regional care teaching hospital, home to one of the nation's top 15 heart transplant centers that has performed more than 1,100 heart transplants; New Jersey's only Advanced Lung Disease and Transplant Program and a Valve Center that performs more cardiac valve procedures, including minimally invasive transcatheter aortic valve replacements (TAVRs), than any other center in the state. The Newark Beth Israel robotic surgery program is the most experienced in northern New Jersey. The Frederick B. Cohen, MD, Cancer and Blood Disorders Center and the Healthcare Foundation of New Jersey Breast Health Center provide seamless integration of cancer prevention, specialized care and treatment options, in partnership with Rutgers Cancer Institute of New Jersey - the state's only NCI-designated Comprehensive Cancer Center. Children's Hospital of New Jersey (CHoNJ), offers more than 30 specialized pediatric services including New Jersey's largest Valerie Fund Children's Center for Cancer and Blood Disorders; and the Children's Heart Center that offers medical and surgical treatments for the most complex cardiac abnormalities.

Under his direction, Newark Beth Israel Medical Center has earned numerous consecutive "A" ratings for safety from the Leapfrog Group, several World's Best Hospital designations from Newsweek, a Best Maternity Hospital designation from Newsweek and now ranks in the top 10 percent in the nation for patient safety, according to Healthgrades. In addition, Newark Beth Israel ranks fourth in the nation for delivering inclusive care and has earned several recognitions from the Human Rights Campaign for its demonstrated commitment to LGBTQ inclusion practices.

In his advocacy role, Mr. Terry has pioneered award-winning initiatives such as the "Beth Challenge", KidsFit, The Beth Greenhouse and the Reverend Dr. Ronald B. Christian Community Health and Wellness Center. Mr. Terry is committed to improving the overall health and wellness of communities served by Newark Beth Israel. He is also committed to RWJBarnabas Health's antiracism initiative, Ending Racism Together.

A graduate of Rutgers University, with a concentration in business management, Mr. Terry received his Master in Healthcare Administration from Seton Hall University and an M.P.H. from the Mailman School of Public Health at Columbia University. He is Board Certified in Healthcare Administration and a Fellow in the American College of Healthcare Executives. Mr. Terry is a distinguished Paul Harris Fellow, and a fellow of the New Jersey Healthcare Executive Leadership Academy. He sits on several boards and has received numerous awards throughout his career, including numerous community service awards and recognitions.

Mr. Terry has strong personal ties to Newark Beth Israel. He grew up in the community, and attended Bragaw Avenue Elementary School, just blocks away from the hospital. He was also born at The Beth, as were two of his children.
